Specifications

Meetings, conferences, presentations, workshops, training sessions, seminars – the importance of communication cannot be understated. But office space doesn't usually grow to match. Multifunctional space with a flexible layout helps organisations to be dynamic. The prerequisite for this is furniture that can easily be adapted to different forms of communication. flex-table has castors to ensure a high level of mobility. The tabletop flips effortlessly. This means that tables that are not wanted can be folded away and parked next to one another to save space.
